A new slogan, a new logo, a new advertising initiative... and still not enough! JDN also offers new online features. For example, you are receiving this newsletter as an interactive communication medium for the first time. Moreover, we are providing a JDN Community on the Internet with immediate effect.

On this online platform, all those involved with JDN and its products can exchange information. You can ask or answer technical questions, report on your experiences and post images of applications.

Win an Extreme Adventure Trip to Sweden!

Anyone who posts a JDN story by 31 December this year will take part in a drawing for an exciting adventure holiday, including flights.

The winner will enjoy a seven-day dog-sledding holiday in the wintery climes of Northern Sweden!

You will experience the breath-taking open spaces, rough wilderness and the untouched natural beauty of Sweden. Your Alaskan Huskies have the stamina and strength of reliable partners and are already looking forward to showing you the sights and sounds of their homeland.
