Efficient logistics

Order online, and the new shoes and clothing arrive through your door in next to no time. Internet retailer Zalando is an online shop with some of the highest sales in all of Germany. To provide its services, it needs efficient logistics.

That is why Zalando has selected the deniway plate chain conveyor: both lines with an overall length of around 410 metres each require just two 2.2 kW drive units. So Zalando makes big savings on energy. And because the cardboard packaging is now easier to handle, it is possible to optimize resources further. When Zalando grows, then thanks to its modular design, deniway simply grows with it.

The deniway plate chain conveyor

- easier handling of packaging
- lower energy consumption
- low noise emissions
- expandable at any time
- optimized resources thanks to automation
