

To Our Valued Customers

We value our customers' faith in our ability to deliver and provide a solution that creates value for both today and tomorrow. It is not only important to believe in these words but in the actions of those words.

To that point, we would like to announce that Pallet Runner Automation is now a wholly owned subsidiary of The Automha Group. We feel that in order to deliver a consistent message and high level of customer service that we should be one organization and we have now acted on that belief.

Now, not only do you have the best Engineered product in the market place, you also have the collective force on two continents to support you for your current and future projects.

Your decision is as important to us as it is to you. You have seen us in action as two separate groups acting as one. Now, we ask you to choose us as the "ONE" to install your new automated solution.

Sincerely
