Subject: HMI – Certified Program: Reaffirmation

Dear Jim,

R&M Materials Handling is currently HMI Certified however; the certification is up for renewal.

HMI requests a current Proof of Adequate Product Liability be remitted.

If any of your products have changed since the original certification, a Technical Declaration of Conformity will need to be signed by a Professional Engineer along with an updated Declaration of conformity. However, if no changes have occurred, a Reaffirmation Letter on company letter head, stating such will need to be resubmitted.

Templates of the requested documentation are attached.

Thank you in advance for your time and consideration.

Kind regards,

John Paxton
HMI Managing Executive
